Waveland asks for annexation hearing

Waveland's annexation suit, authorized by its mayor and board of aldermen last April 5, was filed in Hancock County Chancery Court last Friday.

Town Attorney Lester M. Cox, Jr., said yesterday he would seek a conference with the chancellor during the next week in an effort to get a date set for the hearing—either during the February term or in vacation.

The hearing will be at least 30 days after the date to fixed since notice for that length of time must be given to the city of Bay St. Louis which automatically becomes a party to the action. Notice must also be given all persons interested in, afected by or approved by the proposed expansion.

The town's annexation ordinance calls for taking in an area more than twice as large as its present size. Before the court to the matter of ratifying the ordinance.

The area sought for expansion roughly runs from just eastward of the present boundaries on a straight line just west of the truck scales on U.S. 90 to a junction on the old Riba Road, along this road to La. 600 and along Washington Road to about its intersection with U.S. 90; down Washington to Sauge Street and due south to the present town limits.

Plaintiffs ok head count plan

Plaintiffs in Hancock County's redistricting suit agreed this week to the equal population plan, submitted to a three-judge federal court by the board of supervisors and asked that it be made effective Jan. 1, 1967.

The reply was filed Tuesday at U.S. District Court at Biloxi by Upton Sisson, attorney for Dr. A.K. Martinovich, Jr., and Powell Glass, Jr., and their wives. It said that upon adoption of plan, the plaintiffs would have no objection to the supervisors running from the county at large with the supervisor coming from each of the newly created beats as provided under House Bill 223 of the recent legislative session.

Two supervisors' plans were filed Monday, deadlines fixed by the three-judge panel considering the case, and followed closely by what was adopted by the board Monday, Oct. 17. At a conference with their attorneys Friday, supervisors made some minor shifts in proposed beat boundaries on the equal population program.

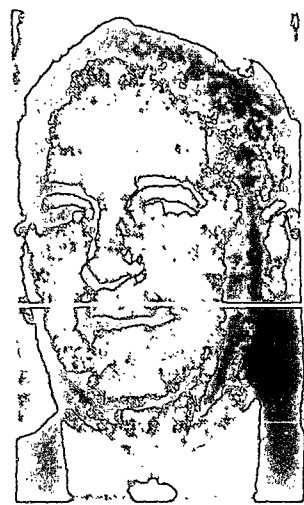

Under questioning by Board President R.G. Hubbard, Jr., at this Monday's session, it developed the at-large plan with minor line shifts was written into the minutes ahead of the equal population plan. Attorneys Walker Phillips and Ruble Griffin admitted they caused the change in the minutes but explained they thought the result was what the supervisors really desired. Supervisors went along with the switch and in essence ratified the change.

The supervisors stipulated that the redistricting become effective in 1967 solely for the purpose of electing county officials and be in full force and effect Jan. 1, 1968. All county and district officers are normally elected next year.

Plaintiffs replied, "As we construe such a request it is contradictory and confusing on its face and unnecessarily so. If the court by its order permits the presently existing beats to remain in effect until Jan. 1, 1968, how then could district officials be elected in 1967 for an office from an area which does not become definitely established and effectively in existence until Jan. 1, 1968." Sisson noted that state law requires new districts to become effective the Jan. 1 following

JOSEPH V. COLSON

Gulf Marine Assn. names Colson exec.

Joseph V. Colson of Waveland has been named executive director of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission with offices in New Orleans, it was announced Monday.

Succeeding the late Dudley Gunn of Pensacola, Fla., he was named to the vacancy at a meeting of the five state commissioners last week in New Orleans.

Colson, a representative for two voting machine firms, was in the seafood business in Waveland for 18 years and is a member and past chairman of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission.

To accept his new position Colson has resigned from voting machine dealership, as a member of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission and the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission.

A graduate of St. Stanislaus College, he attended Loyola University and served in the Coast Guard during World War II. Prior to entering into the sea-

HOSES AND HOSES - First with brooms and then with hoses downtown business men tackled job of cleaning Beach Boulevard of trash, holes, bumps, and ruts, and water encroachment. Claiming business is suffering from state of streets, they try and make coastline more attractive for shoppers.

City hires engineer, street fix job begun

Commissioners J. Cyril Warren Traub met with William S. Gold, city engineer, engaged today to wrestle with plan of bringing the street cars back into operation.

After a street renovation job four days after downtown merchants indicated their objection to street conditions, they might, after closing of business, appear on street with brooms and hoses, on a front end loader after the renovation the merchants had Front Street reasonably level and coated with oil. Glover claimed the action had not had bearing on the city's decision to proceed with renovation as such a move had long been contemplated.

"Excavations have not been completed in the downtown area," Glover said, "and contractors could resume operations at any time as water connecting pipes still have to be laid from Beach properties to Main Street."

It was right. No sooner had the oil had a chance to settle than along came the contractors and started digging again on Front Street.

To assist in the merchant's operation the city had provided man and materials and Supervisor R.G. Hubbard lent the group a street sweeper.

Goldman said he had begun work on Main Street and would proceed this project right on through to US 90 before turning to other routes.

Designed to re-open downtown traffic and provide more rapid cross town travel, the street rehabilitation program is being financed by a $50,000 bond issue. Some of the funds have already been spent on clay gravel but commissioners estimate sufficient dollars remain in the city to permit Goldman to bring order to the present arterial street chaos.

Single car crash causes 15th fatal

Henry Guy Boone, Jr., 25, of Tulsa Oklahoma Trailer Park, was killed and an unidentified woman seriously injured in a one-car accident Saturday afternoon on U.S. 90 near Washington Road. It was the county's 15th traffic fatality this year.

Occurring at Hancock General Hospital said the woman, about 30, was refused to identify herself. Highway patrolman Tony Greer said his organization is conducting an investigation. She is listed at the hospital as in critical condition with a crushed chest, severe back injuries and multiple fractures and lacerations.

Erratic exit possible clue in bar caper

Light to ten drops of vodka and orange juice or bourbon were consumed at the scene and a quantity of liquor, cigarettes, playing gum and candy taken in a break-in to a rooming early Wednesday at Sun Beach's Barton Bluffs Avenue.

City Police Chief Lester Gorge said entry was gained through a seven-inch opening in the back door. Boone told him he closed shop about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and found the mess when he opened at 8 a.m. yesterday.

A LOT OF ROCKET - S-1C booster, first stage of Saturn V-Apollo rocket, moves towards hangar after being offloaded from barge Poseidon. Component will provide 7.5 million pounds of thrust to drive space vehicle on first two and a half minutes of flight.

Mark 5th year S-1C unloaded

A test version of the largest known rocket stage in the world, the 18 foot S-1C, arrived Sunday on board the barge Poseidon at Mississippi Test Facility.

Its arrival preceded site fifth anniversary celebrations by two days and marked the first time two Saturn V-Apollo moon shot rocket components were on base at the same time.

Designated the S-1C-T, the component was built at Huntsville, Ala., by National Aeronautics and Space Administration personnel in conjunction with the Boeing Co. Not intended for flight, its primary function at MTF will be to prove the 407-foot test stand in the $300 million rocket proving ground. It will be positioned in the stand in December and probably test fired next January at Huntsville for a total of 867 seconds in 15 separate ignitions.

The stage, whose flight versions are designed to propel the six million pound Saturn V on its first two and a half minutes of flight, is equipped with five F-1 engines each with one and a half million pounds of thrust. The F-1 power package, with its total output of 7.5 million pounds of thrust, or about 160 million horsepower, burns kerosene and liquid oxygen, each motor is about 20 feet long. Engine builder is Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation, Inc.

As with the first S-1C at MTF, the S-1C will be used to check components of the stand and the electronic data processing and fire control systems. It contains all the elements essential to a flight version of the stage and static tests will determine whether or not any malfunction of the stand is likely to occur during acceptance tests of actual flight ready stages.

The main difference in initial test pattern to that of the S-1C-T test sequence is designed to establish flight worthiness of the stage and testing ability of the stand to prove stand capability only.

Firing date for the S-1C-T rocket is close at hand although MTF engineers were not able to predict the exact day when tested yesterday.

"It could be tomorrow or sometime this weekend," Mack Herring, Public Information Officer, NASA, said.

Three report 100% United Fund gift

Forty-five local business establishments have contributed to the Hancock County United Fund's current campaign and three institutions report 100 per cent participation of their employees.

Those were the bright spots in the picture reported Tuesday night at the weekly meeting of canvassers, according to Allan Sarrett, campaign chairman.

Total collections and pledges to date toward a goal of $17,500 amount to $2,705, not including Mississippi Test Facility. A number of residential canvassers in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and throughout the county have not yet been heard from.

This year's budget of $17,500 will be allocated among United Fund's eight member agencies: Boy and Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Blood Bank, Emergency Relief, USO, Retarded Children and Mental Health.

The 100 per cent participation places are Christ Episcopal Day School, Manti-Carver Plumbing Co. and the Sea Coast Echo.

First homes tie in to ready part of sewers

First residential connections to Bay St. Louis' sewer system were made Tuesday on Bay Oaks Drive on a section south of the railroad tracks and east of Old Spanish Trail was inspected and accepted by the city Monday.

Initial homes to get the new service are those of Col. William P. Dunn, summer resident from New Orleans, 228 Bay Oaks, and John Love, 226 Bay Oaks. The connections were made by Coastal Engineering, Inc., and immediately checked out by City Building Inspector Harry Benjamin.

The area which may now be tied into the sewer lines is located between the sewer pumping station No. 3 on South Beach between Booker and Sycamore Streets.

These are the streets where connections can start: Bay Oaks from 11th station No. 1 at the railroad to Third Street; third from Bay Oaks to the ice plant; Corra Court and St. Charles Street, both from the railroad to Third Street; Ballentine and Citrus Streets between Old Spanish Trail and Hancock Street.

Also Washington Street between the corporate limits and Hancock Street; Sycamore Street from Spanish Trail to Beach Blvd.; Keller and Bookster, both between Ballentine Street and South Beach; Union Street between Hancock and South Beach; Second Street from City Beach (Cont. on Page 8-A.)

North county Lions sponsor essay contest

Chester H. Blalock, president, North County Lions Club, announced this week that his club, along with Lions Clubs throughout the world, is sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for youth on the most important world subject today - Peace.

The contest offers $50,000 in total awards, including a $25,000 first prize, eight semifinal world regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses for the eight winners to Chicago, Ill., in July 1967.

Blalock said he hoped a Hancock County student will win this world-wide prestige award.

To spur efforts on a local level, Blalock said the North

Eddie's score now at .842

We only had two picks going last week but both of them were right. We had Ole Miss over Houston - they won 27-6, and had this to say about the effort: "Florida State beat Houston because Mississippi State was about 10-0. Florida State was 10-0. We have 16 rights in 19 tries, or .842."

Southern Miss had a week off and there wasn't room for the last paragraph of last week's story which contained the LSU-Florida pick as we're not counting it although we picked the winner, Florida.

Big game this week to up at Baton Rouge and we're carry

Southern asks new services

Southern Airways, Inc., which will serve the new Hancock County airport when it is built, applied last Friday to the Civil Aeronautics Board for non-stop and limited service between Dallas-Ft. Worth, Tex., and Detroit, Mich., and between New Orleans and Chicago. It also asked for non-stop service from Memphis to Chicago and from Nashville, Tenn., to Chicago.

The applications requesting non-stop as well as limited stop authority included New Orleans to Jackson to Memphis to Chicago; New Orleans to Birmingham, Ala., to Nashville to Chicago; New Orleans to Houston, Ala., to Chicago; and Dallas-Ft. Worth to Houston to Nashville to Detroit.

On any of these authority requests, Southern would be able to fly non-stop between any points covered by that application; in effect giving Southern non-stop authority between such combinations as Houston to Detroit; Nashville to New Orleans; Birmingham to Chicago; or any other combination of cities involving each particular application.

Southern expects to utilize its DC-9 Jet on the new service. Southern has six DC-9 aircraft on order for delivery beginning in early 1967.

Cost of re-constructing Main Street from the corporate limits to US 90 to being borne by Coast Electric Power Assn. at whose request the additional excavations were made. The power company has deposited sufficient funds with the city to complete the job.

Commissioners agreed with the engineer that Dunbar Street from US 90 to the hospital maybe the next logical step on this was the route generally used by emergency and other vehicles in transporting patients to and from the institution. Next they thought of Dunbar Street and the Spanish Trail to be given attention.

In a final item on his report, Callahan said he was working with city personnel only and it would take one or two days to outline and write them in their new units. Commissioners replied that to have money this was the only choice open to them even though it might leave other city areas short handed. The job may take longer but that was to be understood and accepted.

Stock petitions held pending law ruling

Over 100 petitions of stockholders seeking an election to bring Hancock County under the state stock law, agreed Monday to the board of supervisors' decision to hold up the election pending clarification of an opinion of the law.

J. Reble Griffin, board chairman, explained conflicting opinions of laws enacted on the topic. There is provision to vote out from under the law but nothing definite about voting back under it, he said. Since a similar election Nov. 8 in Hancock County already is accused of being challenged in the courts, he has advised supervisors to see what happens there first and to hope as well for some clarification of the law at the special session of the state legislature next month. He admitted that supervisors could have taken action on the petition. For years the stockholders have their stock frozen in and when they find out there's no law on the matter, they'll probably turn them loose. Griffin noted that it's still illegal for large to run at large.

Supervisors voted to object to four petitions by the State Tax Commission for home-sold exemptions, protesting having been filed in these instances. Fifty-five other rejected petitions came from Wallace Cameron, James Lott Cuevas, two tractors, Harvey P. McNeely and Ollie Mitchell.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ledner urged the board to do something about its year-old plan to open an archway from his tax collection office into the supervisor's room which he is now doing. With heavy tax collection upcoming, the clerks are walking their legs off going back and forth, he explained. County Clerk Marie Griffin said she was using the last available room for the record books and there is no place to go when it is full. Some of the difficulty is created by the fact that Circuit Clerk Lamar Olin is occupying the vault which is the original record room and no other space in the Courthouse has ever been made available to him.

Griffin was retained to handle the injunction filed by Lamar Olin against E. J. Morris at Hancock County. The County Court action seeks to force a record in Book 4 which has been worked for last 20 years.

Need $1,261

Local funds sought for Bay High addition

A minimum of $1,261 in local funds must be provided if the city school system is to use the $46,000 allocated to it by the federal government for construction of three additional classrooms at the new high school.

Low bidder on the job opened last Friday evening was W.M. Craig of Gulfport. His price was $44,586. However the six per cent architect's fee must be added to that figure, bringing it to $47,261.

Superintendent J.D. McCullough said he is conferring with City Hall about the possibility of raising the balance by short term notes to the city can use the federal money. The rooms, including trusses and industrial arts training, will require about $5,000 to equip but that may be included in budget figures, McCullough said.

He noted that elimination of the auditorium from the new school complex had also reduced the number of classrooms and Bay High actually would be moving into the new quarters without enough space. The auditorium was cut to put the contract bid within bond limits.

Bidding on the three-classroom addition began last week. V.L. Blandford, $47,586; McCullough Building Services, $49,500; Ellis Alford, $49,672.

The plaintiffs' reply observed that Exhibit D (equal population) appears to be in conformity with the court order and represents a reasonably fair redistricting on a population basis although embodying circuitous best lines which from equal observation appears to be the result of gerrymandering. Because it contains little imbalance of population, the plaintiffs had to object.

Objections were raised to the "alternative plan", specifying running at-large which the defendants said was based on "natural boundaries", population, road mileage and composition of the population of the various areas. No population figures were attached to this proposal but the accompanying map showed all of Bay St. Louis sometimes in Best 3, and obviously would require drastic redistricting.

U.S. Circuit Judge James P. Coleman and Federal District Judge Harold Cox and Circuit Clerk Clayton compact the panel hearing the Hancock case. Their decision is expected to establish a landmark in local redistricting since it faces two other Mississippi counties are involved in similar litigation before the federal courts.

At last, we're able to report the joy in "Tigerland" to the hearts of Bay High school boys. Everything has been going so well for homecoming, starting with the big parade through the city streets last night. The parade was a show of the pep rally supported by marching bands from the local area. This followed by a parade through the downtown area, both of which the homecoming queen, Dana Krenshaw, and her equally lovely court, Sally Schmitt, Sally Porter and Virginia Wade, rode to spread the word.

The girls also headed into the homecoming ball at the local ballroom, where they had their first dance. The ball was a combination of all previous dances of the season.

North county rosters were also placed on North Central grounds by Van Cleave 7-6, in their homecoming game.

The Rockaways lost a hard-fought game when they went down 20-19 to Ben Franklin High of New Orleans, but may be they'll be better at homecoming scheduled for Nov. 11.

P.J. White is making a name for himself at University of Southern Mississippi having, among other things, been elected a student council member. Southern grade Ann Bryant and Kathleen Schaefer (we've heard she's married) were among the many who showed up for Bay High's homecoming.

Irvin Cuevas was also home for the weekend. He's now working on a weekend disc jockey at a Washington radio station in addition to managing WJSM at Southern.

Mary Ann Becker is very enthusiastic about the prospect of entering Ole Miss next year after spending a weekend there on Tuesday. Becker's guest, Richard Minkley, visited her to David Hubbard who celebrated his 16th birthday at a large party at his home Saturday, Oct. 15.

Chuck Miller gave a welcome to Tom Limes having on his 15th class on Friday, Oct. 21.

The steady women are Susan Arnold and Russ Hall and John Arnold and Tommy Kees.

Both Bill Mendi and Geraldine Ponder are out birthday cakes in October.

President Youth League and Central Youth Organization members held a joint meeting at Our Lady of the Gulf Parish Hall to outline plans for the annual trick or treat collection Halloween night.

Maybe some of our male basketball players had better take lessons from the girls. In the recent CYO-PVL basketball "tournament" game, Coach McFarland received a cut lip and Mary Ann Smith suffered a bloody nose. We'd like to see the ladies playing the real game.

Charles Brown, Jr., a freshman at Loyola, spent the weekend with his parents.

The end great like we'd

Halloween pranks slated for G'view

Witches and goblins will rule supreme tomorrow at the annual Gulfview School Halloween party.

Starting at 6:30 p.m., the Parent-Teacher Assoc. sponsors a party with the crowning of this year's queen.

Candidates for royal fame will not know who is chosen until the very last minute. Election on basis of one vote for every penny collected by their class, total tally cannot be made until after the final count.

Judy Favre and Douglas Ascher have been elected to vie from the first grade; Kay Johnson and Bruce Poyden, second; Karen Spiers and James Barry, third; Elizabeth Page counted upon receiving really typewritten, meaning those who attended David Hubbard's birthday party, finally came in Car's rather illegible handwriting. . . we think Pam Pike, Chuck Liratte, Linda, Clark and Gerry Ross; Gene Greenwald, Cathie Crider, Randy Tracey, Hiram Wheeler, Richard Tracey, Johnny Brelard and Richey Hubbard, were there.

A representative of the State Veterans Affairs Commission will meet with Edward A. Fayard, county veterans service officer, at 2 p.m. next Monday at the Courthouse.

Gene Greenwald is all smiles. . . this due to the fact that steady girl friend, Debbie Hetherington, and family arrived for a flying two day visit last Monday and Tuesday.

Rural schools subject of north P-TA talk

Rural school system and the growth of our children was the subject of a talk given by Albert Nacato of Gulfport on Monday to the Hancock North Central School Parent-Teacher Assoc.

Woodrow Lecher, president, opened the meeting by calling on Doc Thigpen to give a prayer.

Woodrow Lecher introduced the main speaker and later the new high school principal, G. W. Rodriguez.

After laying plans for the annual Halloween Carnival scheduled for tomorrow night in the gymnasium, Mrs. Gerald Kennedy was authorized to purchase $75 worth of trinkets for the occasion.

Nine students from St. Joseph Academy attended a leadership conference Saturday in New Orleans sponsored by the Dominican College student council. Guest speaker was Donna Sullivan of New York, editor of the Catholic magazine Jubilee. Her topic was Woman on the Move.

Those going and the workshops they attended were Martha Lynch and Marianne Horne, student council discussion; Mary Jo Jacob, Lisa Dazet, Bridget Campton and Mimi Mond, student interest; Jackie Anderson, freshman orientation; Melissa Lucia, holding successful discussion, and Lynne Banch, publications.

VCL topples Beaumont for Homecoming win

Beaumont has one of the best teams in the South Mississippi Athletic Conference. Its quarterback is rated tops in the area with 16 completions to date.

Rocks roll under big Ben's boots

Ben Franklin should have stayed in New Orleans and flown a kite.

That's what St. Stanislaus Coach Billy Murphy was thinking after the game Friday night when Ben Franklin of New Orleans out-bested the Rockaways 20-19 in St. Stanislaus Stadium.

But if the game had been decided on academics, it would have been the Rockaways all the way. Ben Franklin scored first when, in the first period, Gerald Hilding went over from the three. Then Henry Holgersen sprinted 27 yards in the second quarter for another touchdown and Ray Simpson ran the extra point taping the score to 13-0, Franklin.

But just before the end of the second quarter, Mickey Pugh dove over from the two, kicked the extra point and his half ended 13-7, Franklin.

Both teams scored again in the third period. Pugh again plunging from the two for St. Stanislaus but Franklin converted while Pugh's kick was wide and the quarter ended 20-13.

Steve Worrell, who was top ground gainer with 55 yards in 14 tries, scored the final 14 for the Rocks in the final quarter on a two-yard plunge but the kick missed and it was Ben Franklin's game.

But it was Valere C. Jones Homecoming Saturday night in Tiger Stadium. The game was over when the Tigers rolled, rolled and rolled. Just before the final horn quarter-back Robert Williams faded back. Three Beaumont men broke through and charged him for the elusive Williams was coasting down the line line pursued by three Beaumont men. Suddenly the ball appeared into the air and fell into Gerald's waiting arms.

When the game ended a few seconds later the Tigers led 44-19.

Coach Willie Bradley will take his men to Wiggins Saturday for an afternoon session with Lecher High.
